EMPEROR WILLIAM USES PHOTOS
TO INFLUENCE SUBJECTS' OPINIONS

Whispered Rumors and Public Statements That All Is Not Peace, Harmony, and Happiness in Royal Family Answered by Circulation of Well Thought-out Pictures.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

Berlin, March 8.—Plainly, Emperor William regards the camera as a potent means of influencing his subjects' opinions. His Imperial Majesty employs photography in the attempt to refute widespread rumors of public statements that all is not peace, harmony and happiness in the family. It is an ingenious and persuasive propaganda, for nine women and men out of ten are convinced that the emperor can record only the truth.

Only the other day the Emperor's Westphalian Gazette reported that her august father could not stand the sight of his only daughter, Princess Victoria Louise, whom all German adores, when he engaged her to marry the Prince of Cumberland.

The Lord Gazette, notoriously devoted to the emperor, stoutly declared that all the romantic stories of a flirtation between the princess and Prince Friedrich August on the Lake of Euphrat were pure fiction. It is reported that the emperor, when he learned of the prince's devotion to the princess, was so angry that he ordered her to marry the Prince of Cumberland.

In Loving Attitudes.

At once appeared all over Germany a series of photographs of the emperor and his family. The pictures were taken in the most intimate and loving attitudes.

Mrs. Deana Mason Receives.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

Alger, March 8.—Mrs. Deana Mason, wife of the American Consul-General, held a reception yesterday at the Hotel de la Paix. Mrs. Mason was assisted by Mrs. Kibler, widow of the late American Consul here. They received more than 200 guests in the great hall of the hotel, and it was a most brilliant gathering.

Half Fatally Injured Matador.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

Madrid, March 8.—The first bull fight of the season was held here yesterday. The first bull, at the precise moment of being released from the pen, caught a matador named Dominguito, forcing him high in the air. The man received wounds of such a dangerous character that a priest was obliged to administer extreme unction in the ring. The poor fellow died shortly afterward.

FOX HUNTING FINDS
FAVOR AT BIARRITZ

Annual Hunt Ball Set for Tuesday of Easter Week—Grand Masque to Follow Affair.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

Biarritz, France, March 8.—The month of the Biarritz-Basque foxhounds has been well attended. The annual hunt ball is fixed for Tuesday of Easter week at the Grand Casino to be followed by a night fancy dress ball at the Palais Bellevue and the Grand Hotel.

The masquerade ball masque at the Municipal Casino this week was a great success. Supper was served in the Restaurant Cyprien in midday and the dancing went on until daylight.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldorf Astor and their family have arrived at the Villa Notre Dame on the Côte des Basques, which will have taken for the rest of the season. Lord Salisbury and his family are with them. A tea and bridge party at the Carlton on Saturday was attended by two hundred people.

Among the arrivals at the Grand Hotel is Mrs. S. W. Fairchild. At the Carlton are Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. Taylor Smith and family, Mrs. Goldschmidt and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Goldschmidt.

ALEXANDRA DAY MAY NOT BE REPEATED

Queen Mother's Scheme to Raise Money for Pet Charities Likely to Be Discontinued.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

London, March 8.—It is now very doubtful if Alexandra Day, which was such a success last summer, will be repeated. The beautiful society girls who sold artificial roses in the streets last June for Queen Alexandra's pet charities, enjoyed the fun of it immensely and would like to repeat the experiment, but the Queen Mother is extremely upset over the fact that the organizer of last year's day has been brought into court by a press agent.

Mrs. Henry Lowmfield, who was the organizer, is equally upset, and her husband, who is a financier, has left London. Strange things happened in connection with the distribution of the large sum collected last year, and it is feared an inquiry may be necessary.

King George was not at all bitten with the idea when it was first conceived and was careful to be out of town last June when his mother died about in a carriage decorated with wild roses. Queen Alexandra will probably give some very good excuse later on for dispensing with Alexandra Day this year.

WILL HELP HUSBAND.

American Wife of Sir Gerard Lowther of Much Assistance.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

London, March 8.—Yet another beautiful American woman, who was Mrs. Alice Atherton Blight of Philadelphia, will be her English husband's companion and helpmate in a most important diplomatic mission, if all expectations are realized.

The next British Ambassador at Berlin will be Sir Gerard A. Lowther, who has been Ambassador at Constantinople for four years. Formerly Secretary of the Embassy at Washington, he married the lovely Philadelphia in 1908.

The Montagu have come to speak of the Florence Nightingale of the Balkan wars. But even before that her noble efforts to end the suffering in Turkey elicited spontaneous praise on both sides of the Atlantic, when the young Turk army besieged Constantinople, Lady Lowther quickly responded to appeals for help.

French Soldiers Hunt Tribesmen.

Tanger, Morocco, March 8.—Two hundred natives were killed and 500 others wounded in a fight between French soldiers and natives in the interior to-day, according to a message received here. The French Governor-General has requisitioned more troops for the locality in which the disturbance arose.

ILLNESS CAUSES ANXIETY.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

London, March 8.—The friends of the Empress Eugenie are in a state of anxiety over her physical condition. The royal lady, who is in her eightieth year, contracted a severe cold recently and is still confined to her room at Farnborough Hill. For the first time in many years she was unable to attend the memorial service held at the anniversary of the death of Napoleon III.

In an interview given out before her illness, the Empress Eugenie expressed herself as being amazed at the fabulous sums modern society women pay for their gowns. She said that she was unable to afford to pay more than £10 for a frock, even when she was the Empress of France.

ROXBURGHES HONORED.

King and Queen to Attend Ball of Duchess in June.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

London, March 8.—King George and Queen Mary will give another proof of their friendship for the Duke and Duchess of Roxburgh in June.

Their majesties will attend a ball which the Duchess, who was Miss Mary Gosset, of New York, will give at Chesterfield House, the famous home of the Chesters, which the Roxburghs have rented from Lady Burton.

The presence of their majesties at a private dance is a signal sign of favor to the hostess, but it is far from being the first shown to the Duchess of Roxburgh. She was a great friend of the Queen before the accession. To her was given the compliment of being the only American who was invited to meet the King and Queen at the dinner given in their honor by Lord and Lady Panjhar, the first private party of the sort in the new reign.
